

About me

Hi there, I am Dr Sophie Morris. I am so glad that you have come to join me on this journey!

My own journey in communication, public engagement and participatory research started almost 10 years ago. I have worked on multiple projects since then, from lots of different angles.

I have been running Engagement with Impact for over four years- time flies when you are having fun! My favourite parts of my job is getting to work with you- so thank you for coming along!

In my spare time I love to travel in my home-made campervan, splash in puddles with my daughter and (attempt!) to grow tasty veggies!

Find me on LinkedIn and say Hello! I always like to hear about your exciting projects!